Fifty Dollars Reward.

Ran away from the subscriber, on or about the 22 instant a negroe man named SAM. He is a blacksmith by trade, aged about twenty five years, about 5 feet eight or ten inches in height has a pleasing countenance, shows his teeth more than is usual when he laughs, and is uncommonly plausable in his conversation and manners.

I will pay the above sum to any person who shall apprehend the above runaway and secure him so that I may recover him again, provided he is apprehended to the north of the Potomac, and thirty dollars if apprehended in Virginia or the district of Columbia, south of the Potomac.

Charles County, Maryland

FOR sale, by private contract, the valuable tract of land called Benfield, situated near the mouth of Port Tobacco Creek. This tract of land yields to none in this county for fertility of soil, healthfulness of situation & convenience to markets. The land being in the whole about 1000 acres is now conveniently divided into a few farms, let to good tenants for more than 1000 dollars per annum, for the present year only; it may be divided to suit purchasers. There besides, houses for tenants, etc. etc. a good two story frame house, with five large rooms on a floor, and four brick chimnies; the water is excellent, and the scite of the dwelling house elegant; the barn, corn house and granary are newly built. More than 100 acres of this land is fit for timothy, with which grass a few acres are at this time seeded. The farmer and the man of wealth may here find health and amusement, combined with great profit, land in Charles county being at least 50 per cent below their average value. There is no county in the state of Maryland where lands offer to the cultivator equal advantages.

Also, two other tracts of land called the Grange and the Mill Farm, near the town of Port Tobacco, in a healthy and genteel neighborhood, containing together about 1000 acres of excellent farming land, a large portion of which is proper for timothy meadow, of which grass there is at this time 12 or 14 acres, and as much more ready to lay down. On the Grange Farm there is a large and elegant mansion with all necessary offices, an extesive commodious garden, filled with the choicest flowers, and fruits of the best qualities in great abundance, excellent water, and proverbial for its health. In a residence of 22 years, no members of the family of the present proprietors has ever been attacked by an intermittent or fail fever of any kind.—Should it be desired by the purchaser, about 800 acres more might be added to these farms, in which case the quantity of acres advertised would amount to about 5000. Terms of sale made known on appication to the subscriber.

H. NEWMAN.

If the above lands are not sold previous to the 19th March next, they will on that day be offered at public auction, without reserve.

Grange, near Port Tobacco, February 17 —98 } dts

Tempus inane peto, requiem spatiumaque furori,
Dum mea me victum doceat fortuna dolere.
VIR AN.

Oh! tell me no more of the days that are pass'd,
Of the raptures of love or the seasons of bliss,
When Mara's dear form to my bosom I clasp'd,
And drank from her lip the luxurious kiss.

Oh! tell me no more of the swell of that breast
Which spoke each emotion—its joy or its sigh,
When the charm of her beauty I sweetly caress'd
As I felt the soft magic that beam'd from her eye.

Oh! tell me no more of that mild lovely grace
That play'd on her brow without effort or art,
Of the smile of her lip, or the ray of her face
Which brighten'd my eye, and enkindled my heart.

Oh! tell me no more of that tremulous blush
Which glow'd on her check, and the lily o'erspread;
My soul caught the flame, and a passionate flush
Mark'd the transport of hope, and my bosom's soft dread.

Oh! tell me no more of my own heaving heart,
When I took her faint hand my love to express;
She melted to love, and her looks did impart
The sweetness of seraphs when soothing distress.

Oh! tell me no more of the vow that we made
That the stream of our being united should flow,
That our bloom of existence should flourish or fade
In the same happy clime while we linger'd below.

Oh! tell me no more of Hope's frail estate
Who chang'd by a spell the dull vesta of life.
Insidious Destroyer, thou dost ever create
The rainbow of bliss, or despair's bitter strife.

I thought with my Mara the world to despise:
Its wealth and its glory mere baubles of pride,
The earth spread before us but one paradise,
And the fruit we desir'd should ne'er be denied.

Nay, tell me not now of that dark Tyrant Death,
Who with sceptre of ice sways a merciless throne,
The Demon who mocks with a day's fleeting breath
The dearest enjoyments to mortals e'er known.

Oh! Mara, dear maid, though on earth we must part,
Yet not the drear Monster could weaken thy love,
Thine eloquent eye was true to thy heart,
And thy tongue faulter'd forth "we shall both meet above."

Dear girl, thou art gone, and hast left me alone
In this bleak world of sorrow, to sadness and grief;
Thou art gone where the joys of the blest are thine own,
But where shall this desolate heart find relief?

My soul is now dreary, and yields to its fate
Like the bird of the desert in his lonely retreat,
Who tenderly sings for his unheeding mate
A song, 'tis his pain and his bliss to repeat.

Thus my comfort is fled, my felicit cross'd
I submit, great Disposer, and look far above
To think of thee, Mara's to feel what I've lost,
To forget thee, dear Maiden's to forget all I love.

Can time teach despair to forget its deep woe,
Or reason the pangs of the torn heart control?
Can mem'ry the idea of Mara forego?
That soother alone of my phrensied soul.

Ah! no, there is naught on this earth that can heal
This madness of passion, which years but increase:
The visions of glory to ambition reveal
And he'll close his sear'd eye for the sake of his peace.

Then where is the charm whose oblivious balm
Can give this frail being, or solace, or rest,
Or what sweet narcotic my bosom shall calm
But thine image all lovely, thy spirit all blest.

From this scene dearest Mara, thou didst suddenly pass
In youth's, vernal freshness, the virgin' soft bloom;
Thy virtue and beauty were destin'd alas!
For the bridal bed? No—for the withering tomb.

Then fare thee well, Love, tho' we meet not again,
Our spirits the sweetest communion shall know
If thou bless but my visions, I'll cease to complain
And woo these illusions 'till in death I'm laid low.

And when the destroyer shall cloud my sad eye
I'll welcome this reconcil'd foe as a friend
To leave all below may cause a sharp sigh.
But my spirit then joyous to thee would ascend.

ILANDER.

THE BRIEF REMARKER.

Dr. Cotton Mather, of venerated memory, in order to escape the calamity of tedious visits, wrote over the door of his study, in large letters, BE SHORT. A pithy sentence in truth it is, and well worthy of remembrance in a great many more cases that I can now enumerate.

The interchange of friendly visits is one of the most precious sweets of life. But then, it must not be overdone; else it becomes irksome and disgusting. Hence, in the book of the Wise Man we meet with the following wholesome counsel. "Withdraw thy foot from thy neighbor's house, lest he be weary of thee." Now the necessary discipline of the foot, which is here inculcated, is, if I may presume to comment, of the following import.—Beware of spinning out your friendly visits beyond due length. Retire, if you perceive in hand any necessary business which your stay might interrupt; retire, ere the family after an hour's yawning begin to steal off, one by one, to bed; retire, ere plain symptoms of weariness appear in the countenances of the little circle you are visiting; retire, ere, in some indiscribable manner or other before it be made manifest that your room is more wanted than your company:—when you have made your friends glad by your company, stay not so long as to make them still more glad by your going away.

In time long past, the lord of a manor in one of the neighboring states, is said to have had a way of his own to clear his house of visitors. When his tenants to whom he was affable and courteous, seemed disposed to prolong the visits which they now and then made him, he dropped the Dutch tongue, and began speaking to them in English: whereupon the honest Dutchmen, knowing what was meant by the token, forthwith made off with themselves.

But the sage counsel, be short, applies not to visitors only: it might be made of like precious use to authors and public speakers, who too often lack one valuable kind of knowledge, namely, that of discerning when to have done."

"Tediousness," as a writer of eminent abilities observes, "is the fault that most generally displeases, since it is a fault that is felt by all, and by all equally. You may offend your reader or hearer in one respect, and please him in another; but if you tire him out with your tediousness you give him unmingled disgust."

A book can do but little good if it be but little read: a destiny that befals almost every book that is found to be unnecessarily prolix and bulky. This was the error of a former age. The massy folios of the last century but one, folios written by men of great parts and astonishing learning, have lain as lumber and been confined to the shelves of the curious, for no other reason than because every thread has been spun out to the greatest possible length. Whereas had the highly respectable authors, learned to be short, or given heed to the arts of compressing their thoughts they never would have wanted for readers.

Writers sometimes, eke out their subject far beyond what need requires, from a mistaken ambition of of making a great book of it.—But readers of the present age generally lean to the sentiment in the old Greek proverb, "A great book is a great evil" It frightens them: they will scarcely open it, and much less set themselves in earnest to the task of reading it throughout.

Thus, in this respect it is with books as with money. As small change, by its quick and constant circulation, does more good than ingots of gold and silver that are hoarded up, so a small book that has a great many readers, is, if truly a good one, of much more benefit than a volume of enormous bulk, which, for that reason, is scarcely read at all. Nay, I will even venture to affirm that the Bible itself would be much less read, and read with much less delight, were it one and indivisible. But the Bible, though bound together in one volume, is not a single book, but a collection of 68 different books, all penned with brevity as well as with inimitable simplicity; and arresting the attention, alike by the weight of their matter and their engagingness.

Speak, young man if there be need of thee, but be short—is a minority saying of the son of Sirach which together with the two following short sayings of that eminent sage, Learn before thou speak; We may speak much and yet come short; compose all three, a pretty good receipt for young men of forward feelings to carry about and use on various occasions, and more especially to take along with them to congress hall.

Speeches in the forum, pleas at the bar, and even sermons when they are of immoderate length, seldom fail to be irksome. So that public speakers consult their own credit as little as they do the feelings of their hearers, when they are more solicitious to say much than that every thing they do say shall be fully to the purpose.

Whether in visits, in public speaking or in common conversation, almost all are enough apt to discern and reprobate the sin of tediousness as respects others, and yet very few are fully aware of it as respects themselves. Their own company is forsooth, so delightful that their visits can never tire; they themselves speak so well that nobody can wish them to have done: they talk so charmingly that their own loquacious ness always gives entertainment rather than disgust.

Thus it is that some men, otherwise of good sense, unconsciously give pain by their prolixity, though in regard to the prolixity of any body but themselves, their taste is delicate even to squeamishness.

DUTCH MARKET.

Extracts from a Circular, dated Antwerp, December 5, 1816.

We have not at this moment more than 500 bales of cotton of all descriptions at this market, yet the demand is by no means brisk.

The new crop has opened so high in America that we fear the shippers of it at the last quotations will lose money.

There is very little rice at this market and the demand is considerable: Carolina of the last crop is worth 24 to 24 1-2: old 22: Brazil 21 to 22: and E. India 19 guilders per 100lb. None of the new crop has yet arrived.

Tobacco continues in the same dull state as has been for the last 12 months, and as prices are merely nominal we do not pretend to quote them.

American pot ashes sell readily at all seasons of the year; the present price is from 27 to 28 guilders per 100lb; Pearls may be quoted the same but are only in demand in the spring for bleaching.

There are about 300 chests of Tea in this market which arrived nearly a year ago. the nominal prices are for Hyson 52 to 60; Hyson skin 32 to 38; Souching 30 to 33; Congo 25 to 30. There is scarcely any sale for Tea owing chiefly to the increased consumption of Coffee.

Exchange on London is 12 guilders per pound sterling which is equal to 7 per cent above par.

One of the persons delivered from Algerine slavery, in consequence of Lord Exmouth's expedition, passed through Dijon on the 14th on his way to Paris. At the age of 15 he was a groom in the service of the Count d'Artois, now Monsieur, and followed his Royal Highness to the siege of Gibraltar. Having been put on board a vessel which was to carry orders to count d'Estaing, he was shipwrecked on the coast of Africa, where he was taken by the Arabs and sold to one of the Princes of the country. During thirty four years of slavery passed in the mountains, he was constantly yoked in a plough, suffering the greatest hardships during the day and sleeping with a multitude of wretched companions heaped together under a tent at night. But the most remarkable circumstance in the history of this man now aged 49, is that in consequence of his being cut off from all communication with the rest of the universe, no report of the French Revolution had ever reached him. His first notion of the misfortunes which the Royal Family and all France have undergone during these 25 years were only acquired during his passage and on his landing at Naples. His stonishment at the doubtless imperfect relations which he received of so many extraordinary events may be conjectured but how great will it be if he one day reads the history of his country! This man in whom the persons who have had the opportunity of interrogating him feel much interest, has a brother at Paris, named Dupond who is still in the service of Monsieur.

London Paper.

Baltimore, March 11.

The United States' sloop of war Ontario, capt. Downes, arrived at Annapolis on Friday morning last from the Mediterranean. The Ontario sailed from Port Mahon on the 23d January, and left there the Washington 74, com. Chauncey, Constellation, capt. Crane, United States, capt. Shaw, and brig Spark, capt. Nicholson, which were refitting. The sloop of war Erie, capt. Gamble, had sailed three days before for Marseilles, and the sloop Peacock, capt. Rogers, five days before for Barcelona. Captain Downs touched at Malaga on the 27th, staid two days, left there the Alert storeship, capt. Stewart, and arrived at Cadiz on the 31st, where he received on board Mr. Smith, secretary of legation, with dispatches from Mr. Erving, the U. S. ambassador at the court of Spain; and sailed the same day for the United States. Captain Downs also brings duplicate despatches from com. Chauncey, informing our government of the ratification, by the Dey of Algiers, of a treaty, the terms of which are the same as in that made by commodore Decatur. The Java, capt. Perry, had sailed from Port Mahon 9 days before the Ontario, having on board Mr. Handy, secretary of legation, who was the bearer of another copy of the despatches and treaty.

The Dey of Algiers is making preparations both for defensive and offensive war; the batteries of the forts which protects the city, have been repaired and much improved under the direction of some French Engineers, and he has a sloop of war on the stocks, which was planked up before the squadron left Algiers. The dey did not conceal his determination to recommence hostilities as soon as he should be sufficiently prepared.

In addition to the above, which was communicated verbally to the editor, he has been favored with the following extract of a letter from an officer on board the Washington 74, to his friend in this city.

PORT MAHON, Jan. 21

We have made another treaty with that troublesome fellow the Dey of Algiers. He told Mr. Shaler that treaties were of no importance unless entered into by the parties with sincerity; and therefore as he did not do so, we are to conclude he intends to come out upon us whenever he thinks he is able to contend with advantage. He is a wonderful man—his batteries are in better order now than they ever were known to be, and he has added to the old fortifications very strong works—he respects our nation very highly, but don't like our forcing this treaty on him." New-York March 7.

The United States Frigate Java, Commodore Perry, arrived at New-Port on the 2d inst. with dispatches from our squadron in the Mediterranean. The Java left Port Mahon on the 13th January, and Gibraltar on the 25th. Mr Hardy bearer of Despatches to Government, arrived here this morning on his way to Washington.

One of the officers of our squadron who came home in the Java, informs us that our late treaty with Algiers, has been ratified, and confirmed, with the exception of that part which related to the restoration of the brig held by the Spaniards, which has been given up by the Dey and the articles relative to prizes, which was given up on the part of the United States.

The greater part of the American squadron were left at port Mahon on the 14th of January. The Erie, captain Gamble, was to sail next day for Marseilles. The Ontario, captain Downes, for the United States, and the Peacock, captain Rogers, for Barcelona, were to sail in a few days.

Captain Hath, of the Marines, has returned in the Java.

Lieutenant Elliot died on board the Ontario, in the latter part of October.

The following officers arrived here yesterday from Newport: Mr. Handy, Chaplain; Lieuts: Ball, Norris, and Macomb.

The brig Spartan, Foster, was to sail from Gibraltar for Norfolk, on the 26th January.

The Java supplied four or five vessels on the coast with provisions; one of them a schooner 59 days from Cape Cod bound to the Chesapeake. Saw also a number of wrecks on the coast.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store. No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions orfoulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and perfectly innocent. It contains nothing but what is constitution, nocent, and is also mild in its operation cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face heated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent 'the vomiting and purging of chint'—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys the hapless infant part of our citizens

Likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

PAUL'S

Patent Columbian Oil.

In respect to which the Proprietor observes:—

"THE great sales of the Columbian Oil, since it has been brought before the public, prove its intrinsic value, and is a pleasing foreboding of what we have to expect from its more extensive circulation.

Many interesting certificates might be furnished, testifying to the great value of the Columbian Oil, but we have preferred giving but few, wishing to rest more on the merits of the medicine, than on the effects produced by certificates from a source however respectable.

The following are among the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found very efficacious, viz. rheumatism, consumption, gout, palns in any part of the body, but more particularly of the back and breast; asthma, phthisic, influenza, colds, coughs, whooping coughs, diseases of the eye and eye lids, tooth ache, ear ache, and deafness, cholic, cramps, external and internal bruises, sprains and flesh wounds, old sores, ulcers, felons, scalds, burns, mumps, dysentery or flux, croup, quinzy, diarhœa or lax, summer complaint of children, indigestion, loss of appetite, nervous debility, piles, mercurial diseases, especially in those cases where the system has been charged with mercury for some considerable time, and in those excruciating pains subsequent to its too great use and exposure. Herpes, or diseases of the skin, such as ring worms, tetters, scald head, &c. stiffness of joints and limbs, palsy ague and fever, cholera morbus, gravel, gleetes, obstructed urine, scurvy, and in almost all cases of a general or local nature.

We are aware that in recommending a medicine in so many diseases, the public especially those who have not used the Oil, may be induced to question its virtues, but a disposition of this nature will soon be dissipated, when they are informed that a great proportion of the diseases are owing to the same general cause.—And in those cases where the diseases differ materially in their nature, the effects produced are nearly the same, although not on the same principle.

A supply of the above just received and for sale by RICHARD H. LITTLE, Druggist, King street.
